

Frequently Asked Questions

Can all flowers be preserved?

YES - by using our specialist preservation techniques we are able to preserve any flower as long as it is fresh.

Will my flowers still look like they did on the day of my wedding?

YES—the shape and form will stay the same. The flowers take on an “antiqued” look after preservation and colours can deepen. Red flowers with a yellow undertone tend to keep their colour particularly well but flowers with a blue undertone will darken in tone. E.g. a ruby red rose will turn a very dark, almost claret colour. True blue flowers will remain true and many white flowers will turn a light shade of cream.

I don't live anywhere near you. Can you still preserve my flowers?

YES – we offer a FREE and convenient nationwide bouquet collection service to all of our clients that live outside of our local collection area. Just call us before midday to guarantee same day collection of your flowers.

Do you accept orders after an event?

YES—we can accept flowers up to one week after an event as long as they are still relatively fresh.

How long will my keepsake last?

Like any other piece of art, it should be kept away from direct sunlight, humid conditions and direct heat sources. If you follow this advice your keepsake will last for many years.
